Established in 2000, Apaiser is a specialist manufacturer of luxury, handcrafted, engineered stone composite bathware. Exclusive to the company is a unique stone aggregate product which is natural and organic in appearance with superior thermal qualities. The unique manufacturing process allows Apaiser to create sublime and fluid shapes in almost any form, with uniformity of colour, strength and integrity that is unachievable in natural stone. The Apaiser stone aggregate is also virtually non-porous, offering easy cleaning and low maintenance. Apaiser has an extensive colour range that is available across the product range, perfect for residential applications.
